DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Specie I, subspecie 2 (claims 2-3, 6-7, 10-11, and 14-15 in the reply filed on 08/07/06 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the searches for the subject matter of any one Species would encompass a search for the subject matter of the remaining Species. This is not found persuasive because Specie I (subspecies 1-2) and Specie II (subspecies 1-2) are different embodiment and require searches in different fields.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 2-3, 6-7, 10-11, and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Murade et al. (U.S. Patent 6,172,721).

As to claim 2, Murade et al. discloses a wiring board as shown in figures 1-10 comprising:

a substrate (10);
an interconnect layer (3a, 3b) formed of a plurality of layers (see figure 3), the interconnect layer being formed over the substrate (10); and a plurality of electrodes (9) formed to overlap the interconnect layer (3); wherein a part of first and second interconnecting patterns (3a, 3b) are disposed to extend in directions forming a lattice under each of the electrodes, the first interconnecting pattern being positioned in a first layer among the plurality of layers forming the interconnect layer, the second interconnecting pattern being positioned in a second layer among the plurality of layers forming the interconnect layer.

As to claim 3, Murade et al. discloses a wiring board as shown in figures 1-10 comprising: a substrate (10); an interconnect layer (3a, 3b) formed of a plurality of layers (see figure 3), the interconnect layer being formed over the substrate (10); and a plurality of electrodes (9) formed to overlap the interconnect layer; wherein first and second interconnecting patterns (3a, 3b) positioned respectively in first and second layers among the plurality of layers forming the interconnect layer have portions extending parallel to each other under each of the electrodes, and the parallel extending portions are formed not to overlap each other (see figure 10).

As to claims 6-7, Murade et al. further comprising: an organic resin layer (7) formed to cover the interconnect layer (3), and having an upper surface made flat, wherein the electrodes (9) are formed over the organic resin layer (7) and are electrically connected to at least one of plurality of layers forming the interconnect layers by passing through the organic resin layer.

Art Unit: 2841

As to claims 10-11, and 14, Murade et al. discloses an electronic instrument comprising an electro-optical device and a functional layer (30), the functional layer being formed in a first region of each of the electrodes; wherein each of the electrodes and one of the plurality of layers forming the interconnect layer supplying power to the electrode are connected in a second region of the electrode.
